WHO WON SHOT-PUT?

Strong-arm Athletes Play to Empty Seats.

AFTERMATH OF G. W. U. MEET

Cup Trophy for Athletic Club Winning Most Points Goes Begging. Jack Carpenter Might Have Been Defeated Had Opponent Cut Loose. Richmond Makes Poor Showing.

By WILLIAM PEEBLES.

Had the two shot-put events been started earlier Saturday night, as might easily have been arranged, the George Washington meet would have been finished at ten minutes after 11 o'clock. As it was, the shot-putters had a merry time of it all to themselves, with nobody in the audience except J. P. Baer, the official handicapper of the South Atlantic A. A. U., and half a dozen colored skate boys, attaches of the rink. At 12 o'clock the strong-arm men were still putting the shot.

None of the Washington papers yesterday printed the summaries of the open handicap and scholastic shot-put, for the reason that Handicapper Baer disappeared with the official record sheets and boarded a train for his home in Baltimore. He could not be located yesterday by The Washington Herald's correspondent, but from one of the contestants in the scholastic event it was learned that Ganster, of Loyola High School, won; B. L. Spransy, of McKinley Manual Training School, and Stenbach, of Baltimore City College, third.

How About Cup Trophy?

The Hatchette track management offered a handsome cup trophy for the athletic club winning the greatest number of points. When the points were counted it would have taken a mighty strong microscope to find what the numerous athletic clubs had scored. Now the question comes up, What becomes of the cup? Emory R. Wilson had his first crack at the difficult job of referee, and certainly acquitted himself creditably. The referee's position is a thankless task at best, and it was due mostly to his energetic efforts in insisting that the dash events be gotten out of the way on schedule time that the meet was so successful.

Richmond's Poor Showing.

There was considerable comment over the showing of the Richmond College relay team pitted against Pennsylvania and Western Maryland. The Southern athletes have done much better work than their showing here would indicate. After the meet it was learned that they had been trained for a longer distance.

It would have been funny had Hurlbut, of Cornell, beaten Jack Carpenter in the exhibition 60 yards, yet there is little doubt that he could have done so had he cut loose, for Carpenter was in wretched shape; in fact, he has done no training since the Olympic games, and ran his little race as a personal favor to Manager Newhouse.

With the exception of the shot-put, the meet was a splendid success, and established itself more firmly as a permanent local institution. Here's hoping that the Hatchettes elect a manager of Newhouse's caliber next year.

PRACTICE FOR MEET.

Muddy Athletes Are Working Hard for Coming Event.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 14.—The midshipmen track athletes have been actively engaged for several days practicing for the indoor meet to be held in the gymnasium on Thursday.

It will be the first event of the kind ever held here, and the midshipmen have taken much interest in it. The new gymnasium quarters occupy the major portion of the boathouse building, and the balconies offered splendid facilities for laying out the track, which is about seven laps to the mile. There will be events in the various distances. Efforts are being made to add high and broad jumping to the programme.

FAMOUS SHELL PASSE.

Cornell's Record-breaking Boat Out of Commission.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The Cornell eight-oared shell, in which the famous 1901 crew established a new world's record at the Poughkeepsie regatta, has gone out of commission, according to advice received here from the Pacific Coast.

This shell was sold by Cornell to the University of Washington. The Seattle oarsmen have twice won the Pacific Coast championship in it. Now, however, it is so old that it will be put aside. The Cornell 1901 "varsity" crew rowed in this shell when they set the world's record at 18:32 1-5.

It is Cornell's policy to use a new shell for the "varsity" crew every year, and therefore the shell was sold to the West-ners.

BASEBALL AT FRIENDS.

Candidates to Be Called Out in a Few Days.

Manager Lawrence Baker, of the Friends School baseball team, has nearly completed his schedule for the coming season, and has already booked enough games to give the Quakers one of the best programmes they have had in the history of the school.

As soon as the weather permits Coach Brooks will issue a call for candidates, but in the meantime all men for the positions of pitcher and catcher are to start work in the school gymnasium, which is large enough to permit a good try-out.

Before announcing the complete schedule Manager Baker would like to arrange games with the Central High School for any of the following dates in May: 4, 5, 12, and 13, and with any other teams of the city.

ATELL AND DRISCOLL MAY NOT MEET SOON

ADVICE ON HURDLING.

Develop your sprinting ability. Practice jumping hurdles, moderately to save your limbs. Learn to skim the hurdles as closely as possible. Take three strides between hurdles in 120 yards and seven strides in 250-yard event. Don't start off too fast. Don't pay any attention to your opponent. Don't try to jump too far when going over the hurdle. Land as quickly as possible after each hurdle. Hurdling requires more patience and courage than any other event.

HAVE POOR TRACK PROSPECTS

Former Eastern Athletes Smile Over Glowing Accounts.

Story that Light Blue and White Have the Look of Quakers Is Very Misleading.

Former Eastern high school athletes were considerably amused over a story printed yesterday in one of the local papers commenting on the bright prospects which that school has on the track this season.

Among other glowing accounts was found the statement that a new era in track work had been reached, and that this season's team would be a dangerous contender for the scholastic title. When in reality, Capt. Fessenden and Martin entered a meet once. He ran on the freshman relay team during his first year at school, and has never since been a serious candidate for a track team. The squad at the Eastern school numbers about ten men all told, and although some of the candidates might make a fall out of the midst of records, there is little likelihood of Eastern showing its heels to Tech, Western, Business, and Central in a scholastic meet this year.

It is not printed to discourage track athletes at the Capitol Hill school, but is merely a correction of a very inaccurate and misleading account which would surely place the Light Blue and White squad in a ridiculous predicament should they attempt to try conclusions with any of the other high school outfits.

SPORTING SIDELIGHTS

By BILL BAILEY.

They are still playing ice hockey in New England.

"Doc" White was one of the judges at the George Washington meet. He was kept busy guarding the southeast corner to be sure that the runners touched second.

Jim Mulligan, starter extraordinary, wondered why the gun failed to explode at the start of one of the races. "Mull" is minus a digit on the right hand, and he probably tried to pull the trigger with the stub.

Boston Nationals have signed a pitcher from Hawaii, named Barney Joy. If they should get Catcher Bliss from St. Louis the announcer could shout "Joy and Bliss for Boston!" Col. Dovey would then have the only real sunshine battery in the league.

Owner Murphy is a good poker player, says the Philadelphia North American, but one little bluff cost him $10,000, when Pulliam, Johnson, and Hermann called.

Wouldn't it be funny if William H. Taft were paired off with John D. Rockefeller in the next national amateur golf tournament?

Christy Mathewson has just written a $300,000 policy on the life of Barney Dreyfuss. If Matty pitches many more sensational games in Smoketown, the insurance company will have to dig, as it is reported that Dreyfuss has a weak heart.

Georgetown Kel—You can come home. Your tailor is dead.

According to a letter from Charley Ebbets, the Brooklyn team's uniform this season will be white for home games and Yale gray for the traveling games. The trimmings will be navy blue.

There'll be plenty of trimmings, all right, and not all furnished by Charley Ebbets, either.

We saw Jim Sprigman at the George Washington meet, but where was Coach Hecox, of Tech? After "Sprig" had inquired, "What ails Porter?" he was afraid the prohibitionists would insist on the bar being lowered and the crowd dispersed when the high jumpers were called out.

Dear Bill: Will you kindly state in your column where Tom Longboat was born? Was Johnny Hayes declared a professional when he signed a contract for the stage if not then, when? K. P. P.

Answer—Tom Longboat was born in Caledonia, Canada, just outside of Hamilton, Ontario. Hayes forfeited his amateur status when he signed the theatrical contract, but technically did not become a professional until declared to be so by the A. A. U.

Saw Bill Sommers, manager of George Washington football team, yesterday, and he says his schedule is nearly completed. It will be found in full on the twenty-fifth page of to-day's issue.

Will Press Agent Bright please call for his valentine?

Manager Newhouse deserves something more than "thank you, old chap," from the Hatchette directors.

WILLIS WILL SIGN.

Pittsburgh Twirler Has Decided to Quit the Hold-out Ranks.

Newark, Del., Feb. 14.—"Vic" Willis, the Pittsburgh National pitcher, who lives here, will join that club at the beginning of spring practice, despite assertions that he would retire from baseball this year.

It was learned to-day that the cause of his failure to sign a Pittsburgh contract was due to the fact that he is holding out for more money. Several weeks ago Willis received a contract from President Dreyfuss calling for $150. He refused to sign, placing his figure at $500.

Porter, Olympic Star, Will Attempt to Set New Record in High Jump. Trials for Intercity Relay Team to Be Held in Y. M. C. A. Gym Tomorrow Night—Good Opponents.

That all the "class" in the big entry list of the Federal Olympic games to be held in Convention Hall next Saturday night is not confined to track events, is evident from the list of athletes entered for the high jump and pole vault, and the records made by the competitors in these two events will be mighty close to top-notch figures.

Harry Porter, the Olympic champion, with a record of six feet three and one-half inches, is going to make a desperate effort to smash the mark of six feet three inches made in Washington seven years ago by I. K. Baxter, the old intercollegiate champion.

Good Opponents for Porter. He will have fifteen men against him, the most dangerous being Roy Lester, of Pittsburgh, with a record of six feet; Newberry, of Pennsylvania, point winner in the 1908 intercollegiate; Martin and Randolph, of Virginia, and Boettlinger, of the Baltimore Athletic Club, the best in Baltimore since the days of Schoff.

In the 50 meters innovation, Gamble and Dowdrow, of Princeton; Munds and Hough, of Pennsylvania; Gall, of Merceburg, and Randolph, of Virginia, are the fastest short-distance men in the East, will start.

Ralph A. Gamble is captain of the Princeton team, and for three years a point winner in the intercollegiate. He is the son of Senator Robert J. Gamble, of South Dakota, and one of the best known big college athletes in Washington society.

Martin, of Virginia, winner of the South Atlantic championship pole vault last year, and a fierce rival of Sterrett, of George Washington, has been added to the list of entries in the invitation vault.

Ward, of the Baltimore Y. M. C. A., who is also entered, will keep the other fellows hustling.

The trials for the intercity relay teams will be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to-morrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Some straggling eleven-hour entries expected this morning, carry the list of individual athletes well beyond the 400 mark, which is a new record for indoor games south of New York.

The relay sale will continue all this week at Spalding's and Hickman & White's.

UNIQUE CONTRACT.

Here's a new one. The secretary of the New Castle (Pa.) baseball team claims he has secured a contract from one of the candidates to play on the team which is unique, in that the player agrees that if he does not hit a .20 clip for the season he will not ask for any pay for the final month of the season. The secretary will not give out the player's name, as he claims that if it were known every pitcher in the league would work overtime trying to beat the player out of that month's salary.

1909 BASEBALL FORM CHART.

Out West they are making winter books on the 1909 National League and American League races. It is interesting to study how these Westerners size up the ante-season strength of the eight teams in each league. Here is the American League dope chart of the Omaha Bee, which The Washington Herald's readers will no doubt study with considerable amusement:

AMERICAN LEAGUE FORM CHART FOR 1909.

Horse.	Owner.	Jockey.	Odds.	Remarks.
Nap.....	J. Kilroy.....	LaJole.....	Even.....	Has shown promise in previous races, but lacked staying powers. Will be better prepped this time, and looks like a good one to beat.
Tiger.....	W. Yawkey.....	Jennings.....	Even.....	Has equal chance with Nap, because of wins last two times out. Can show bursts of speed when needed. Will be handled by a good boy, and should be near the front.
Brown.....	R. Hodges.....	McAlear.....	2 to 1.....	Showed promise in last race, but does not get good rides. Jockey has failed to ride a winner. Will be in better shape than last race, and should be well up.
White Sox.....	C. Comiskey.....	.....	4 to 1.....	Needs a good ride to finish near front, but may not get it, as old boys do not want mount. This horse can do great things when handled properly. Does not look good enough to get into the money this time.
*Red Sox.....	J. Taylor.....	Lake.....	10 to 1.....	This is a promising young colt, but will be able to do better with more experience in a fast company. Looks like a winner later, but not this time.
Athletic.....	B. Shibe.....	Mack.....	10 to 1.....	Will have a fast start, but won't win the race.
Senator.....	T. C. Noyes.....	Cantrillon.....	50 to 1.....	Needs more seasoning and stability before he can be a contender.
*Highlander.....	F. Farrell.....	Stallings.....	100 to 1.....	Nothing doing. Had chance last time out and failed. Looks like a dead one, and won't be able to fool the bettors the way he did last time out.

GURLEY MAKES REPLY

Frees Bloomingdales from Dishonesty Charge.

REQUEST IS MISUNDERSTOOD

Manager Worley's Action Not So Black as Painted—Reply May Again Bring Rival Clubs to a Peaceful Relation—Whole Matter Is Now Up to Bloomingdale Members.

The Gurley Athletic Club has finally taken up the controversy between that club and the Bloomingdale Athletic Club, and a committee has been appointed to look into the matter and take any action, on behalf of the club, it deems necessary.

As these are probably the two strongest athletic clubs in the District at this time, it is a regrettable fact that they are at "daggers' points," although this will, of course, make the competition keener and the rivalry more intense than before.

The trouble started last October on account of a match race between the clubs, scheduled to be run in the Fifth Regiment Games at Baltimore that month. One of the local papers came out with an article that the Gurley team was "backing out" of the race.

This statement on the part of the Bloomingdales started a series of articles between the clubs which became stronger and stronger, until at last the Gurley Club claimed that in a former meet the Bloomingdales had gotten such a case of "cold feet" that they had asked them to "make the race interesting and not to run away from them."

This article was misconstrued by the Bloomingdale Club as a charge of dishonesty, and they wrote the Gurley Club demanding an apology and severing all athletic associations until their demand was complied with.

In this case, however, the "severing of athletic associations" can only refer to match races and the like, as the Bloomingdales cannot, of course, prevent Gurley men from entering open events. In fact, in the George Washington meet, Saturday night, the Gurley second team was pitted against the first team of the Bloomingdales and several other clubs.

Committee Makes Report. The committee appointed by the Gurley Club to look into this matter has made its report to the club, and the following letter was sent to the secretary of the Bloomingdale Athletic Club yesterday:

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Gurley Athletic Club, held Tuesday evening, I was appointed chairman of a committee to decide what action, if any, the club should take regarding the Gurley-Bloomingdale controversy of last November. As it is the custom of the club to discuss matters meeting during the month of January, and as the subject was not first brought up until after carefully reading the case from the newspaper, and questioning the different club members concerned, the committee has decided as follows:

"(1) That the statement made by Mr. C. E. Smith, on behalf of the club, is substantially correct, although the newspaper heading 'Refuse to Lay Down' is greatly exaggerated and intentionally reflects on the honesty of both Manager N. T. Worley and the Bloomingdale Athletic Club.

"(2) That the whole affair is resultant from a series of misunderstandings and misstatements (probably unintentional) made in the newspaper, and given them by members of both clubs.

"(3) That the true facts of the case are that in the National Guard athletic meet of 1908 Manager Worley approached several members of the Gurley team, told them that owing to the disqualification of two of their club's men, if they could not win the race, and asked as a favor that the Gurley team 'not show them up.'

The committee, in going over the controversy, did not feel called upon to decide what action, if any, the club should take to correct any misstatements incident thereto; and, with this idea in view, no other action than that relating to the rupture between the two clubs was discussed.

The contents of this letter have been approved by the club, but it should be distinctly understood that this is not to be considered as an apology to the Bloomingdale Club, but merely a correction of statements previously made which might tend to reflect on the honesty of the Bloomingdales, it being this committee's belief that the Bloomingdale Club has no dishonest intentions when requesting the Gurley Club 'not to show them up,' but that they merely wanted to get out of the unfortunate predicament in as easy a way as possible.

FRANCIS H. YOUNG, Vice President, Chairman of Committee.

NO SQUABBLE HERE.

Big League Recruit Is Suspended from School for Disobedience.

Newark, Del., Feb. 14.—Augustine B. Silley, crack pitcher of the Delaware College team, who last season, while playing with the Bridgeport, Conn., club, was drafted by the Boston Nationals, will be enabled to join the latter team without any college entanglements. It was announced to-day that he was this week suspended indefinitely by the faculty for refusing to obey the order of Lieut. Edgar S. Stayer, U. S. A., military instructor at the college, to attend drill.

Silley for a couple of months had been excused from drill duty by the faculty, but last week was directed to resume this task. Instead of obeying, he escorted a Newark young woman to the college parade grounds and walked up and down the lines, his action bringing about immediate suspension.

Englishman's Representative Lacked Authority to Sign Articles.

Hughes Jennings Confident Tigers Will Again Cop Flag-Sullivan-Lewis Fight Attracts Attention.

New York, Feb. 14.—Articles of agreement signed by pugilists usually are iron-clad, but in the case of Abe Attell and Jim Driscoll they appear to be worthless. Attell and Driscoll signed articles to box ten rounds at the National Athletic Club next Friday night. It seems, however, that Driscoll's representative who acted for the Briton's manager, Charles J. Harvey, had exceeded his authority in signing articles, so that early this morning there was another wrangle between the agents of the feather-weights which put the match temporarily in the air.

Driscoll's agent, Jimmy Johnson, said at this second confab that the articles he signed on Saturday afternoon did not go for anything, and that, on recommendation, Driscoll would not meet Attell except in the ring of the Fairmont Athletic Club, and that the weight would have to be 125 pounds, ring-side. As Attell had bound himself by written agreement to box before the National Athletic Club, he said he would not meet Driscoll at the Fairmont club.

Next Saturday Harry Lewis and Mike (Twist) Sullivan will meet in New Orleans for the writer-weight championship of the world.

Hugh Jennings has come out with a prediction that Detroit will win the American League pennant this year for the third consecutive time.

He says he has some doubt about the matter until he landed Third Baseman Moriarity, but having corralled this clever young player, it is all over but the flag raising.

He says that Jennings will find that there are still other great teams in the American League which will fight the Detroit every inch of the way.

BASEBALL NOTES AND COMMENT

Jimmy Sebring has gone to Hot Springs to get into shape.

Covaleski, the Phillies' left-hand pitcher, has refused to sign at the figure named by the Phillies.

John T. Brush, president of the New York Nationals, will go to Marlin Springs with Manager McGraw.

Terry Turner is not overconfident that his arm will stand the test. He will seek expert medical advice.

Dave Shean, last season with the Montreal team, will sign with the Philadelphia Nationals for this season.

John E. Dowd, of Worcester, has been selected by the Worcester Academy faculty to coach the ball team for the coming season.

Garry Herrmann denies the story that he is to quit baseball after another year. He says he may drop politics, "but baseball, never."

Joe McGinnity says if he is out of big league baseball it means no more baseball for him. The minors have no attraction for the "Iron Man."

Larry Doyle, the New York Giants' second baseman, wants a salary of $4,000 on account of that .308 batting average of last year, and refuses to sign the contract presented by McGraw.

President Potter, of the Philadelphia Nationals, has offered Third Baseman Hunter Hill and his utility man, Billy Keister, the former Oriole and Skeeter, to Manager Duffy, of Providence, for $400.

"Pop" Anson is booking games in the East for his Chicago "Colts," and would like to arrange in Boston, but no opening has been found up to the present time. His team plays the New York Giants in New York April 13.

Billy Clymer is sore because the New York Americans secured Tony James from Boston at the waiver price. He expected the Boston club to turn the catcher back to Columbus, and says he will fight the case if Stalins turns James over to Newark, as he expects.

The Boston Nationals' League team has asked waivers from both the American and the National Leagues on Pitcher Fae Flaherty, the little left-hander, intending to dispose of him to Kansas City, of the American Association.

Chicago Owner Writes Barney Dreyfuss and Asks for Truce.

Pittsburg, Feb. 14.—Barney Dreyfuss and Owner Charles Murphy, of the Chicago team, have locked horns. They had a row, and the Pittsburg magnate went to the Chicago man hard by mail. To this Murphy sent the following reply by wire to Dreyfuss:

"Secretary Thomas has just read to me your letter in reply to mine. It was received at the hospital, where I am at the bedside of my wife, who is in critical condition. I am sincerely sorry for my impulsive letter to you in regard to the schedule, and I hope you will forgive me. I also hope that our meeting here next week will be peaceful, as the public is tired of these wrangles."

Nationals Never Could Solve Big Boston Twirler.

WHEN WADDELL "GOT HIS"

Baseball Fan Waxes Reminiscent and Spins a Few Interesting Yarns. Philadelphia Athletics Always a Stumbling Block to Washington. Sensational Ninth-Inning Rally.

An ardent baseball fan, who has not missed a game here in ten years, dropped into the office last night and waxed reminiscent. The balmy days and near approach to the early season training days evidently set his baseball blood tingling. He says:

"Cyrrus Young has been the stumbling block of the Nationals ever since that mighty pitcher has had occasion to face the club, and those times when he has had to bow to the prowess of the team have been few and far between. But he met his Waterloo in a game in 1901, in a finish which he no doubt to this day remembers. The Boston club was stacked against Washington on that occasion, when Loftus had the control of the Senators, and the score was 3 to 6 in favor of the Bean-eaters. Young was pitching, and the chances of Washington coming out on top were very dim.

In the locals' half of the ninth, with the crowd filling the gates, Kittredge singled, Orta bunted, but was out at first; Moran dropped a nice one to left, and Ryan's smash ran up over Collins' head, scoring 'Kit.' Clarke slammed another to center, and Moran charged in. 'Kit' Seibach hit to the same pasture, and Ryan completed the circuit. Lee's blow went to Collins, and Clarke was run back to third. Coughlin lifted to Dougherty, and the elongated fielder nuffed it, he and 'Chick' Stahl almost breaking each other's necks, and a game, which seemed almost to a moral certainty on 'ice,' was counted a defeat for Young. Some loud cheering.

Philadelphia is a team that has always had the "high sign" on the locals, and has won more than its share of games from our club. But in a game in Philadelphia in 1905 we nearly gave the team a paralysis by a sensational ninth-inning finish, though we lost the game, and the very next time the club came to this city we repeated the performance, coming out on top the second time, however.

The first game, in Philadelphia, with the score 6 to 0 in the Athletics' favor in the ninth, had a rattling finish. Patten was pitted against Plank.

Cassidy began the ninth with a fly to Murphy. Mullen, Knott, Kittredge, and Nill, the latter batting for Case Patten, singled in succession. Two runs, fanned. Nill's hit scored Heydon, who ran for Kittredge. Stahl's clean hit sent in Nill. Exit Plank. Before Bender got his sights working he unwound a wild pitch, scoring Nill, and Huelsman walked. Davis, who the Philadelphia fans went home shaking with a nervous chill.

We put a successful ninth-inning rally across with the mighty Roy Waddell in the box, and in our own little ball park, Townsend, the Delaware peach, who was opposed to the eccentric twirler, came to the bat in the ninth inning with the score 5 to 0 in the Athletics' favor.

He singled to right field, Nill bunted to Waddell, and the ball was thrown to Knight, who dropped it. The error rattled the Cubs.

Jonah hit scored Townsend and two runners advanced a base on Stahl's sacrifice—Waddell to Davis.

Punch Knoll came along and hammered the ball against the center-field fence, bringing in both runners.

Huelsman hit to center, putting Knoll on third. Huelsman went to second on Hoffman's throw to the plate, the Athletic center fielder, looking Knoll would get on home. Mullen singled, scoring Knoll. Cassidy's long fly scored Huelsman.

Then Waddell forced Kittredge, Townsend, and Nill, passing over Mullen, and the game was won. The Nationals' Waddell thereupon took a fishing trip for several days, and it is not recorded that Connie Mack cared very much.
